Wolfe Middle School presents
CYBER SAFETY

Sponsored by the Washtenaw Area Council for Children

- The CyberSafety program is offered to elementary, middle and high school students and their parents and is designed to teach them how to stay safe while using different technologies to access the internet.

- 94% of American teens regularly use the internet. While the internet adds a lot of value to their lives, it also presents some serious risks. Because of its expansive and ever-changing nature, it's crucial to teach children, youth and their parents how to use the internet safely.
